Table 7: Research Training and library tours

Research Training sessions: 2,161 attendees

Research Training Online: 1,179 logs

Other Training Events: 68 attendees

Induction Tours: 408 attendees

- IALS Library organised three well-attended IALS National Training Day for PhD students: The PhD in Law and research methods; The PhD journey: Supervision, research ethics and preparing yourself for upgrade and vivas, and Researching, disseminating and publishing in the digital world.

- The Access Librarian organised five successful roadshows and training presentations of the library's national services and collections at the law faculties of Bangor University, Birmingham University, Southampton University, De Montfort University and Sheffield University.
- The library delivered research skills training sessions to a total of 2,020 attendees during 2017/18 continuing to develop the various sessions including those on electronic information for researchers and LLM students.
- During the spring and summer of 2018, library staff offered individual research advice sessions to LLM and MPhil/PhD students working on their dissertations. These are one-to-one advice sessions tailored to the individual student's research needs, and normally last from 30 to 60 minutes, by appointment. Staff also offered one-to-one help with Microsoft Word and other document creation and management tools to LLM and MPhil/PhD students. The total was 141 appointments which amounted to over 77 hours of staff time.
- Library staff continued to teach on the intensive one-week 'Introduction to Legal Research Methods' course for new MPhil and PhD students and also now teach parts of the assessed legal research methods module of the Institute's LLM programmes. With this new development the library's contribution becomes part of the formal IALS academic programmes and gives it more value and significance.
- Two induction days devoted to University of London LLM students were organised during which 380 people were taken on introductory tours of the library and over the year a total of 408 readers took tours.
- The library significantly updated the online freely-available guides to legal literature for the legal research guides to Argentina, Books and eBooks, Brazil, Canada, Cases, Foreign, Comparative & International Law Collections, Hong Kong, India, Official Publications, Public International Law, Uganda, UK law, Legislation and the United Nations. In total these LibGuides were opened 64,478 times as compared with 52,412 times in the previous year.
- The Electronic Law Library was further enhanced by creating and updating key information buttons for most of the library's major electronic resources.
- The library continues to issue an electronic library newsletter 3 times per year for law schools and law libraries and a monthly information email is sent to all library members.
- The library continued to create and develop online legal research modules for the Law PORT service, as part of the Postgraduate Online Research Training platform originally funded by School of Advanced Study. Three online modules were published in summer 2017: an Introduction to citing references using OSCOLA; Researching customary international law; and Treaties and international conventions. Over the last year there were 1,179 logs: 842 logs for the OSCOLA module, 217 logs for the customary international law modules, and 120 logs for the treaties modules.

NATIONAL & INTERNATIONAL PROFESSIONAL ACTIVITIES

Sian Astill, part-time IALS Archivist and Records Manager left the library for a full-time post at the University of Huddersfield in July 2018.

Lindsey Caffin represented IALS at the University of London Sustainability Group.

Clare Cowling, the Project Director and an Associate Fellow of IALS, is an experienced researcher and archivist/records manager. She has previously undertaken research projects into Legal Records in the Commonwealth and Records of Legal Education; this is her third “legal records” research project for the University of London. During this year Clare gave presentations about the project to stakeholders, including the Legal Regulators Research Forum, the Centre for Socio-Legal Studies in Oxford, UCL Department of Information Studies and the Information and Records Management Society annual conference. She also organised a seminar on the topic of Legal records, confidentiality and access: breaking down the barriers at which lawyers, researchers and archivists debated the issue of the legal duty of confidentiality versus the value of making legal records available for research.

Lauren Cummings was appointed to the post of Document Supply Service Manager in October 2017. Previously she had been a Graduate Trainee Library Assistant for 1st September 2016 to 31st August 2017.

Stephen Davison continues to study for his part-time MA in Librarianship and Information Studies at UCL.

David Gee gave a presentation at the IALS Digital launch event in November 2017 and then published an article entitled, IALS@70: the growth of IALS Library and its development of digital initiatives for the UK legal community, in Legal Information Management. He created four large information boards for the IALS@70 celebrations which summarised the establishment, growth, achievements and future of IALS. He was again responsible for the programme of three national training days and organised another joint IALS / British Library / SLSA socio-legal training day on sources and research methods on family law and social welfare law in May 2018. With Laura Griffiths, he continued to manage the annual survey of academic law libraries in the UK and Ireland and the report on the 2017/18 Survey will appear in Legal Information Management. He continued to serve as Secretary of the International Association of Law Libraries (IALL), as Chair of its Scholarships Committee and as a member of the IALL Finance Committee. He was appointed Chair of the FLARE Group of major UK law libraries.

Laura Griffiths continued as a joint compiler of the Legal Information Management current awareness column. She again contributed to the annual survey of academic law libraries in the UK and Ireland and facilitated research skills training for Queen Mary University of London LLM students in Paris and Piraeus.

Narayana Harave continued to participate in the JISC Resource Centre for London Systems Administrators discussion group.

Dalia Maoz-Michaels was appointed to the post of Senior Library Assistant in the Cataloguing and book acquisitions section in February 2018 with a focus on e-resources. In October she will start the one year Legal Foundations Course by distance learning which is organised by BIALL.

Liz Murray continues to represent IALS at the London Committee of the London Universities Purchasing Consortium.

Katharine Radford was the Graduate Trainee Library Assistant from 1st September 2017 to 31st August 2018. She is planning on studying for a distance learning MA in Librarianship and Information Studies at Sheffield University and will continue working at IALS Library as a casual library assistant.

Katherine Read continued as a member of the Editorial Board of Legal Information Management and joint compiler of its current awareness column.

Hester Swift was acknowledged in a book by Andrew Moran and Anthony Kennedy entitled, Commercial Litigation in Anglophone Africa, Juta, 2018. She continued as Secretary of the EU Databases User Group and helped to organise two EUDUG meetings in November 2017 and June 2018.

Alice Tyson was appointed to the post of Access Librarian in December 2017. Alice came to us from the Law Society of England and Wales Library.

Steve Whittle gave a presentation at the IALS Digital launch event in November 2017 and then published an article entitled, Launching IALS Digital: Connections and Collaboration, in Legal Information Management. During the year he joined the SAS Publications Advisory Group. He continued to be a member of the SAS-Space Working Group, the SAS Website Champions Group, and the UoL Enterprise Architecture Group. He attended SAS Librarians meetings and Library Management System project meetings. Steve retired from IALS Library at the end of September 2018 after 35 years of improving the library and helping the staff and students who use and value it.

Jules Winterton was Pro-Dean for Libraries of the School of Advanced Study, Associate Professor at the Kwame Nkrumah University of Science and Technology, and member of the Board of the Ghana Institute of Advanced Legal Studies. He continued to serve as Convenor of the Libraries Committee of the Society of Legal Scholars, a trustee of the British and Irish Legal Information Institute, as a member of the Board of the non-profit US consortium LLMC Digital, Chair of the FLARE consortium of libraries, and a member of the Library Committee of the School of Slavonic and East European Studies. He served on the editorial boards of the Foreign Law Guide, the Journal of Open Access Law, and Legal Information Management.
